amendments that may be offered by open or covert enemies. In this way a major-ity can win out as between two competing measures in short order.

By a careful "counting of noses" yesterday, it was given out as authentic that there were not more than thirty-three votes of all the Democratic membership which could be marshaled against the compromise plan. Of these thirty-three only twenty could be counted as supporting the Meredith plan, except as a club with which to kill the other. At a calcus of the compromise plan leaders, held after the adjournment of the conference yesterday, fifty-six members were counted up in favor of that plan. SKIRMISH FOR POSITION.

After granting a great many leaves of absence, the convention adjourned until Monday at 12 o'clock, and the Suffrage Conference was called in session by Chairman Keezell.

There was an hour of sparring for par-liamentary position between leaders of the compromise plan and those for the Mere-

One side insisted on strict parliamentary rules in the conference and the other thought best to proceed as formerly.

The result was a decision by common consent that the rules governing Committee of the Whole should be observed in the conference as formerly.

The fight apparently was made to give one side or the other the "right of way" in the consideration of the two new plans in place of the Glass plan which was pending.

The Meredith plan men had not yet given any indication that they had a plan to offer, evidently trying to get position efore presenting it.

Mr. Flood untangled the skein by a motion that every resolution formerly con-sidered be laid on the table except the compromise plan and the Meredith plan and consideration of these plans be proceeded with.

Mr. Meredith finally withdrew all objec-The slate was thus wiped clean and the

The first mark was the formal presenta-tion by Senator Daniel of the compromise suffrage plan.

MR. MEREDITH'S PLAN. Mr. Mcredith then offered his plan as a substitute for the compromise plan. It was in substance as follows:

(1) Two years' residence, etc.
(2) Poll tax prerequisite of all poll taxes for four years immediately preceding election except to soldiers who have served in any way, who do not receive more than $60 per annum in pensions. EXPLAINS THE PLAN.

Mr. Meredith proceeded at some length to discuss his plan, and stated that to meet the objections of some that it had a property qualification he had concluded to place the tax on property at 45 cents instead of $1, so that it would not exceed $150, whereas the compromise plan em-braces a feature of $1 which was tax on Captain Wise and Mr. Westcott both stated that they intended to support the compromise plan, but they thought the other side should have an opportunity to have their plan printed.

The motion to adjourn was adopted without division.

a few days in western territory

Unforescen obstacles arose yesterday which will delay the placing in position of the new burglar and mob proof manganese steel vault, which has reached here for the National Bank of Virginia, until Monday and possibly Tuesday. This vault weighs forty-five tons and the transportation and placing of it in the bank at Main and Eleventh Street is a herculean task. Captain Samuel Rodman, engineer and expert tester for the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Company is in Richmond to uperintend the placing of the vault.

The great vault was shipped in one piece over the Pennsylvania road direct from the factory at Plainfield, N. J., to this city. It is mine feet wide, nine feet high and ten feet deep, being the only vault of its kind in existence. It was made to order for the National Bank of Richmond. Yesterday the work of removing the ma-soury from the present vault at the bank began. This will be completed probably on Menday and the new vault put in position,

For instance, it has been stated in The Times that the police department, which asked for an additional patrol wagon and twenty-five more men, had not been given anything along that line, nor had the salary of the policemen been raised; that the fire department would be given another fire engine and $20,000 to place the alarm wires underground; that great lib-erality had been displayed toward the public school department: that a school building for the East End had been provided for, and that complete san-been provided for, and that complete san-itary arrangements had been provided for in all the schools; that music in the parks had been provided for, and that the streets department had been generously recognized, besides increased appropria-tions for the water and gas departments.
